1 Purpose

Loyalist College acknowledges that learning can be enhanced by experiences in a global environment. This policy has been developed to ensure that all reasonable precautions are taken for the safety of students who travel abroad for College-approved international activities, and to effectively manage measures intended to mitigate the risks associated with international travel.

2 Application

This policy applies to all students travelling internationally on College-approved international activities.

3 Roles and Responsibilities

Once a student's international travel has been approved, it is the student's responsibility to acquire medical insurance for the duration of their trip. It is also recommended that students obtain travel insurance.

In circumstances where students wish to use personal time in conjunction with College related international activities, but for purposes outside of those described in the associated policy, students are responsible for making all necessary arrangements, including acquiring medical insurance for the full duration of their trip.

The College will, to the best of its ability, assist students who are engaged in international activities that require international travel.

Regardless of travel warnings issued by DFATD, it is the individual traveller's responsibility to be informed of the inherent risks of international travel and to take precautions to avoid undue risk and danger.

The Dean or Director overseeing the international activity will approve individual and groups of students travelling abroad on international activities. This approval will be based upon a review of the DFATD Risk Rating of the destination, the potential risk posed by the planned activities and any necessary consultation with the faculty member or employee.

The College shall not sanction travel by students participating in international activities in countries or regions deemed Extreme Risk or High Risk by DFATD. Students may appeal a decision to decline, postpone or cancel travel for international activities, as outlined in the procedures section below.

The final decision concerning appeals rests with the Senior Vice-President Academic and the Senior Vice-President Corporate Services and CFO.

Students must adhere to all steps and measures outlined in the procedures section of this policy and are reminded that they continue to be governed by College policies while travelling internationally.

The administration (Senior Vice-President Academic, Deans/Chairs and Directors) have the authority to disallow student participation or the granting of academic credit if the minimum requirements for participation in international activities are not met.
